About the OMV MaxxMotion Goodyear FIA ETRC

During the first weekend of June (June 6-7), the SLOVAKIA RING complex will host one of the most exciting motorsport events of the season.

The prestigious Goodyear FIA European Truck Racing Championship (FIA ETRC - OMV MAXXMOTION TRUCK RACE OF SLOVAKIA) is coming to Slovakia alongside other popular championships, bringing fans a unique mix of adrenaline, speed, and fun for the whole family.

The European Truck Racing Championship ranks among the most impressive disciplines in world motorsport. These giants, weighing over five tons, move across the track with surprising agility, delivering close, contact-filled battles packed with emotion. Despite a strict speed limit, the races offer exceptionally thrilling moments that have won over thousands of fans across Europe.

Main Characteristics of the ETRC

The Vehicles

Racing trucks are based on commercial models but are heavily modified for competition purposes. The minimum required total weight of a racing truck is 5,300 kilograms.

Performance

Despite their massive size, these trucks can accelerate from 0 to 100 km/h in approximately 5 seconds. For safety reasons, their top speed is electronically limited to 160 km/h. The engines deliver a massive 1,200 horsepower and a torque of around 6,000 Nm.

The Races

Each race weekend features two qualifying sessions and four races - two on Saturday and two on Sunday. This ensures spectators get a generous dose of action and entertainment. An electrifying atmosphere and spectacular racing performances await us.

Categories

Drivers are divided into two categories: Titan and Chrome. All drivers compete together in the same races and fight for glory in the overall standings. Each category has its own winner in every race, and at the end of the season, an official FIA title is awarded to the driver with the highest number of points in each category.

TITAN Drivers

- All FIA ETRC champions from the last 10 years
- All drivers who finished in the top seven of the overall standings in the 2025 Goodyear FIA ETRC season
- All drivers who qualified for Q3 more than twice during the 2025 Goodyear FIA ETRC season
- The 2025 Goodyear FIA ETRC Chrome category champion
- All drivers who meet the criteria for the Platinum and Gold categories in the 2026 FIA Driver Categorisation list
- Any drivers whose performance and achievements are deemed exceptional, even if they do not fall under any of the definitions above

CHROME Drivers

- All drivers who do not meet any of the criteria listed above for the Titan category

The 2026 Season

Norbert Kiss concluded the opening round of the 2026 Goodyear FIA ETRC European Truck Racing Championship in Misano with a winning hat-trick and a four-point lead in the interim standings. Driving for the Révész Racing team in a MAN truck, the driver triumphed twice on the opening day of the Italian event and secured his second pole position in the final round thanks to a fierce qualifying performance.

However, contact with Jochen Hahn in Race 3 pushed him down to sixth place at the finish line. This allowed Hahn to claim his first victory of 2026 ahead of his son, Lukas, who recorded three wins in the Chrome category over the weekend.

Kiss bounced back in Race 4. By the end of the first lap, he took the lead in the partially reversed-grid race and never looked back. Sascha Lenz and René Reinert rounded out the top three in Race 4.

Antonio Albacete completed the podium in Race 3 behind the father-and-son duo of the Hahns, while Bradley Smith finished second and John Newell third in the Chrome category. In Race 4, Newell finished third in the Chrome category behind reigning champion Mark Taylor.

With Kiss already having secured victory in Race 1 from pole position, he underscored his star quality in Race 2, fighting his way forward from eighth on the partially reversed grid to cross the finish line first. Lukas Hahn and Lenz completed the podium in Race 1, while Albacete and José Eduardo Rodrigues joined Kiss on the podium in Race 2 in second and third place, respectively.

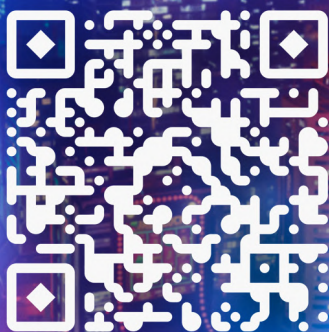

Victories in the Chrome category went to Lukas Hahn in Race 1 and Stefan Kursch in Race 2, after Smith was disqualified following technical inspections. Kursch and Steffen Faas took second and third place in Chrome in Race 1, while Newell and Taylor completed the category's podium in Race 2.

,Kiss xconcluded the Misano weekend by winning the championship's first-ever Goodyear Wingfoot Award, securing 54 percent of the fan vote. Antonio Albacete and Lukas Hahn were also shortlisted by the judging panel.

GT Cup Series: The Gateway to the World of Big Circuits

The GT CUP SERIES is one of the most prominent circuit racing series in Central and Eastern Europe, holding the official status of an FIA International Series within the FIA CEZ (Central European Zone). The series provides a platform for both up-and-coming drivers and professional teams, running under international FIA regulations with a strong emphasis on safety.

The starting grids regularly feature GT cars, prototypes, and special racing machines such as the Lamborghini Huracán Super Trofeo, Ferrari 488 GT3, Mercedes AMG GT2, KTM X-BOW, and Ligier LMP3.

The race weekends include both sprint and endurance races.

The highlight of the program at the SLOVAKIA RING will be the traditional three-hour endurance event, which will test the drivers' speed, team strategy, vehicle reliability, and the mechanics' teamwork during pit stops.

The event will also serve as the second round of the 2026 season following the opening races at the Red Bull Ring in Austria. The start of the season brought dramatic battles between Marius Aigner (KTM X-BOW) and Slovak driver Miro Konôpka (Ligier JS 320 LMP3), who dominated the second sprint race. Excellent performances were also delivered by Ondřej Rokos in a Mercedes AMG GT2, who took third place in both races and dominated the GTX category. After technical issues in qualifying, Dennis Waszek started from the very back of the grid—30th place—in his Lamborghini Huracán Super Trofeo, yet managed to fight his way up to fourth place overall in the first sprint race.

TCR European Endurance

Another dramatic series of the weekend will be the TCR European Endurance, featuring endurance races for touring cars in the TCR and GT4 categories. Spectators can look forward to two 60-minute races (one on Saturday and one on Sunday), where the outcome will be decided not only by speed but also by team strategy.

F4 CEZ Championship

F4 is a vital category for the future stars of motorsport. Drivers generally transition to F4 from karting, making single-seaters their first true challenge. They must learn to work with aerodynamics, brake significantly more aggressively, properly warm up their tires, analyze telemetry, communicate effectively with a race engineer, and handle the physical and mental demands of professional motorsport.

The F4 CEZ Championship utilizes identical Tatuus F4-T421 single-seaters. They feature a carbon monocoque, a halo protection system, aerodynamic wings, and a sequential gearbox with paddle shifters on the steering wheel. Power is provided by a 1.4-liter turbocharged Abarth petrol engine delivering approximately 160 horsepower. While that might not sound extreme, in a single-seater weighing around 605 kg, it is enough to propel the car from 0 to 100 km/h in 3.5 seconds and reach a top speed of 240 km/h.

Standing out in the packed starting grid is the famous name Häkkinen—this time represented by the talented Ella, daughter of the legendary two-time F1 World Champion, Mika Häkkinen.

The just fifteen-year-old racer is considered one of the biggest female talents in junior motorsport. For Slovak motorsport, this is an exceptionally attractive event. Racing at the circuit near Orechová Potôň will be a young driver who is being talked about behind the scenes of Formula 1 as one of the potential future stars of women's motorsport, one who could even make it all the way to a seat in an F1 car.

The Slovakia Ring is one of the most technically demanding circuits in the championship, which consists of 6 tracks. Long straights, fast corners, and heavy braking zones make the track an ideal test of driving skills. For Slovak fans, it will be incredibly exciting to see how Ella Häkkinen measures up against the fierce competition of the Central European F4.

The only Slovak driver competing in the F4 CEZ Championship is the 15-year-old talent from Nitra, Miroslav Kepák. During the past weekend at the Salzburgring circuit, he secured an excellent 3rd place, achieving one of the most significant successes of his career so far.

A passion for speed has stayed with him since childhood. His goal is to become a professional Formula 1 driver. Before entering the F4 series, he spent four years in karting, competing in the Slovak Championship and the Slovak Karting Cup. In the 2022 and 2024 seasons, he earned the title of Slovak Vice-Champion in the Rotax MiniMax and Rotax Max Junior categories. In 2024, he also finished among the top ten drivers in the overall standings of the Slovak Championship in the Rotax Junior category.

Watch his races at the Slovakia Ring and let's show him the strong fan support he will need out on the track!
