GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

The Grand Prix of the Slovak Republic has been a staple of Slovak motorsport since 2010, held at the SLOVAKIA RING circuit. Traditionally taking place at the end of the summer holidays, it not only brings good weather but also delivers adrenaline, thrilling races, and entertainment beyond the track gates.

Spectators can once again look forward to a weekend full of action featuring racing machines from a variety of classes and series. Drivers and teams will be scoring points in the FIA Central European Zone Trophy (FIA CEZ), TCR Eastern Europe, GT Cup Series, and various cup series. Let's take a closer look at them.

The FIA CEZ includes Division D4 cars with the GT class (e.g. GT3), as well as TCR touring cars and Division D5 prototypes.

Their program begins with free practice on Friday, followed by qualifying and a 25-minute sprint race on Saturday. On Sunday morning, drivers take part in another qualifying session for the second race of the weekend, which features a rolling start.

GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

The D4 Sprint will feature 26 high-performance cars. Some of the biggest names from Slovakia, the Czech Republic, Poland, and other countries will be competing: Maťo Homola in a KTM X-BOW, Štefan Rosina in a Lamborghini Huracán GT3 EVO, and Filip Sládečka, also racing a Lamborghini for ARC Bratislava.

Miro Konôpka (ARC Bratislava) will take the wheel of a Ligier LMP3 prototype, while Zdeno Mikuláško (also ARC Bratislava) will join in another Lamborghini Huracán GT3 EVO. Czech touring car legend and champion Petr Fulín will race in an Audi R8 GT3 LMS, and Polish legend Stanislaw Jedlinski will pilot a Ferrari 296 GT3.

FIA CEZ Division D2 consists mostly of older homologation single-seaters such as Formula 3, Formula 4, and Formula Renault 2.0. Their races will also take place on Saturday and Sunday.

A special class will be the touring car races with engine capacities up to two liters (TC-2.0), scheduled for both Saturday and Sunday.

On Saturday evening, fans can look forward to an endurance race lasting one hour, featuring driver changes. These races will include the same classes as the D4 sprint races, promising a spectacular audio-visual experience packed with intense and thrilling moments.

22 cars will line up on the grid, mostly identical to those in the GT Sprint. Among them, we'll also see Richard Gonda behind the wheel of a BMW M4 GT3.

TCR EASTERN EUROPE*TCR Eastern Europe
TOURING CAR SERIES

TCR touring car series are among the most popular in the world, with each global region having its own championship.

TCR Eastern Europe began its seventh season in mid-April. Slovakia proudly boasts last year's champion of this series — Maťo Homola. This year, however, he will be competing in a different category - GT. Attention will therefore focus on his former teammate, Adam Kout from Janík Motorsport, who is currently the provisional leader of the championship.

The SLOVAKIA RING circuit will host the penultimate event of the series, promising plenty of exciting battles.

F4 CEZ CHAMPIONSHIP

F4 is an important step for future motorsport stars, including Andreas Lo Bue, who is mentored by legendary F1 driver Jean Alesi.

Typically, drivers come from a karting background before progressing to the more powerful F3. With a bit of luck, talent, and funding, they can even advance to Formula 2. F4 single-seaters compete in various regional series.

The Tatuus F4 T-421 car is powered by a turbocharged 1.4-liter Abarth engine producing a maximum of 180 hp and a top speed exceeding 240 km/h. The engine is paired with a six-speed sequential gearbox operated by paddle shifters behind the steering wheel.

The series is for juniors - both boys and girls - aged 15 and up. The minimum car weight is 500 kg without the driver (equivalent to about 360 hp per 1000 kg), which is similar to the weight of Formula 1 cars in the early 1990s.

A typical F4 race weekend consists of a 30-minute practice session, a 20-minute qualifying, and three 25-minute races.

The balanced starting grid and close battles ensure fierce competition and an exciting experience for the spectators.

GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

The FIA Swift Cup Europe, with its format, is one of the most entertaining forms of racing - both for the drivers and the spectators. A loaded field of identical, high-performance Suzuki Swifts promises intense battles, often with three to five cars side by side through every corner, and even more closely tailing right on their bumpers. Their races are scheduled for both Saturday and Sunday. Equally entertaining will be the Twingo Cup series.
