GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

The Grand Prix has been a fixture on the Slovak racing scene and on the SLOVAKIA RING circuit since 2010. It occupies the traditional end of the summer holidays and, in addition to good weather, brings a dose of adrenaline, exciting races and fun outside the gates of the track. Spectators can once again look forward to the all-day racing action in all kinds of classes and series: drivers and teams will score points in the FIA Central European Zone Trophy (FIA CEZ), ESET Cup, TCR and cup series. Let's take a closer look at them.

FIA CEZ includes Division D4 vehicles with GT class (e.g. GT3), but also TCR touring cars and prototypes of Division D5. Their program is divided into free practice on Friday, followed by qualifying and a 25-minute sprint on Saturday. On Sunday morning, they will then qualify for the second weekend race with a flying start.

GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

With its format, the FIA Swift Cup Europe is one of the most entertaining forms of racing - both for drivers and spectators. A bloated field of identical and sharp Suzuki Swifts often promises a fight for every corner with three or five cars side by side and others in close proximity and on their bumpers. Their races are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. The Clio Cup series will be just as entertaining.

FIA CEZ Division D2 are mostly single-seaters of older Formula 3, Formula 4 or Formula Renault 2.0 homologation. We will see their race both on Saturday and on Sunday.

GRAND PRIX OF SLOVAKIA

A special class will be the race of touring cars with engines up to two litres (TC-2.0). Scheduled on Saturday and on Sunday.

We will watch the traditional one-hour endurance race with the drivers' change again early Saturday evening. The same classes as in the D4 sprints will start side by side. Our well-known racers Rišo Gonda and Mat'o Homola will be behind the wheel. No less famous Štofi Rosina and Miro Konôpka will also race in sprints.
